WILL FRANKS SCHOOL

Building for the future . . .

Top scholars of the Class of 1964 Dan Baker and Susan Kespohl led the graduates down the long aisle for baccalaureate and commencement as the activities of the year came to a close.

Graduation, Banquet Mark

With no semester exams to be taken the seniors were dismissed a week earlier.

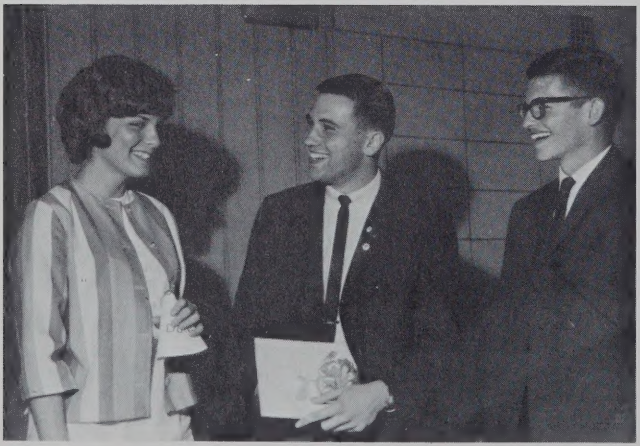
Baccalaureate on Sunday began the events of the final week. Tuesday at the Jr. and Sr. Picnic a students vs. teachers baseball game was organized. Water battles, football and eating were enjoyed.

Many received recognition for scholarship, sports, and service to the school at Class Night on Wednesday. "Devotions" was sung by the girls' chorus and dedicated to Mr. Wilson who had been absent twelve weeks. Open houses were enjoyed by the seniors at various classmates homes.

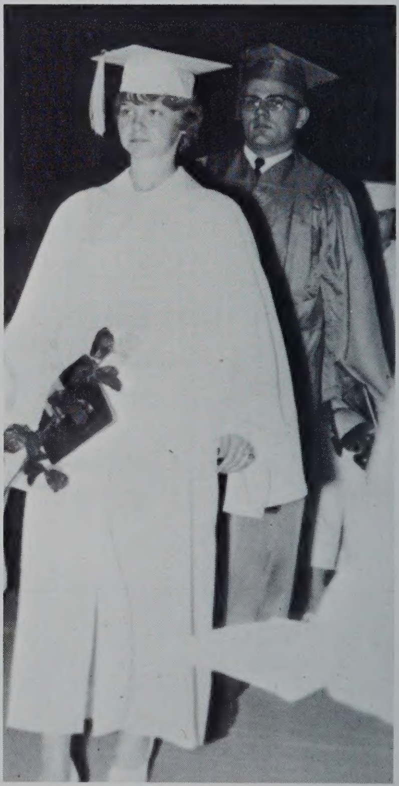
Then the last night arrived. Commencement speaker Dr. Burt gave to the Class of '64 a countdown on preparation for the future. Superintendent Charles Puff presented the members of the '64 class with their diplomas and declared them graduates of Garrett High.

Jackie Weller does not say good-bye to her parents, but gives them a hug of thanks.

Pinning the star on for the 1964 Class are "Good Citizens" Al Rapp and Sally Weimer.



At the Senior Dinner Suzi Kespohl was honored as the most intelligent and most likely to succeed, Larry Cattell--the most talented, and Al Rapp--the most popular boy and the boy most likely to succeed.



Sorrow and happiness over come Marvene Bergdall and John Colgan as graduation comes to an end.

End

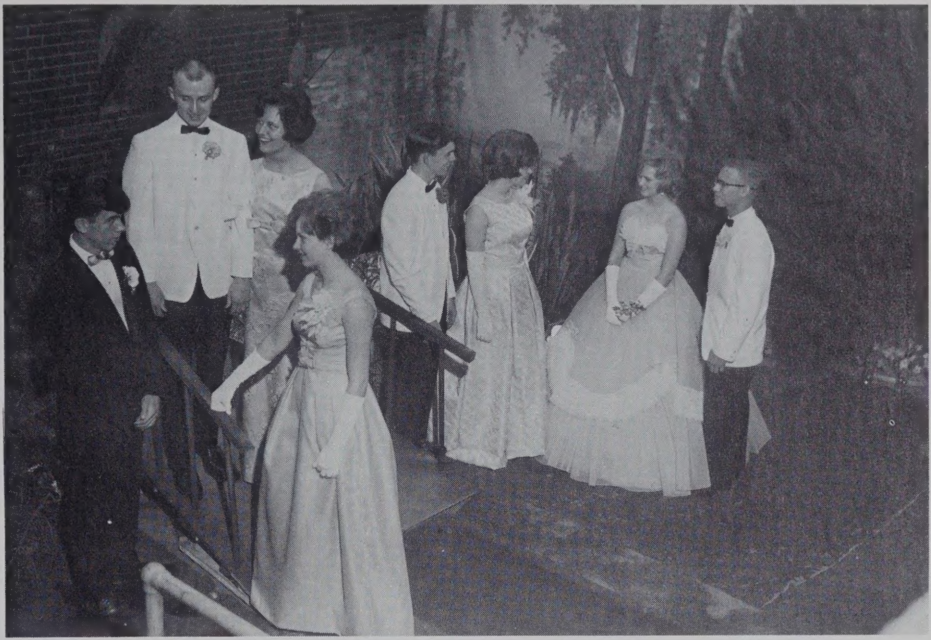
To arrive at "Camelot" the guests traveled over a bridge among trees and flowers. "The Sword in the Stone" could be seen while ascending the outside stairs into the castle (auditorium).

Stained glass windows, balconies, stone walls, and stuffed animal heads set the scene for the interior of the castle. On the stage blue material draped the wall behind the king and queen chairs.

The "Herm Binkley" Band provided dance music. Other entertainment was a singer and a comedian.

The traditional All-night night Party was held after the banquet. Many juniors and seniors rented cottages at the different lakes for the remainder of the weekend.



Crossing the bridge into "Camelot" are Dave Ewert and Dawn Fleet; Terry Howiler and Mick Wade; Derek Heinzerling and Susan Jay; and Tom Wheeler and Linda Ervin.

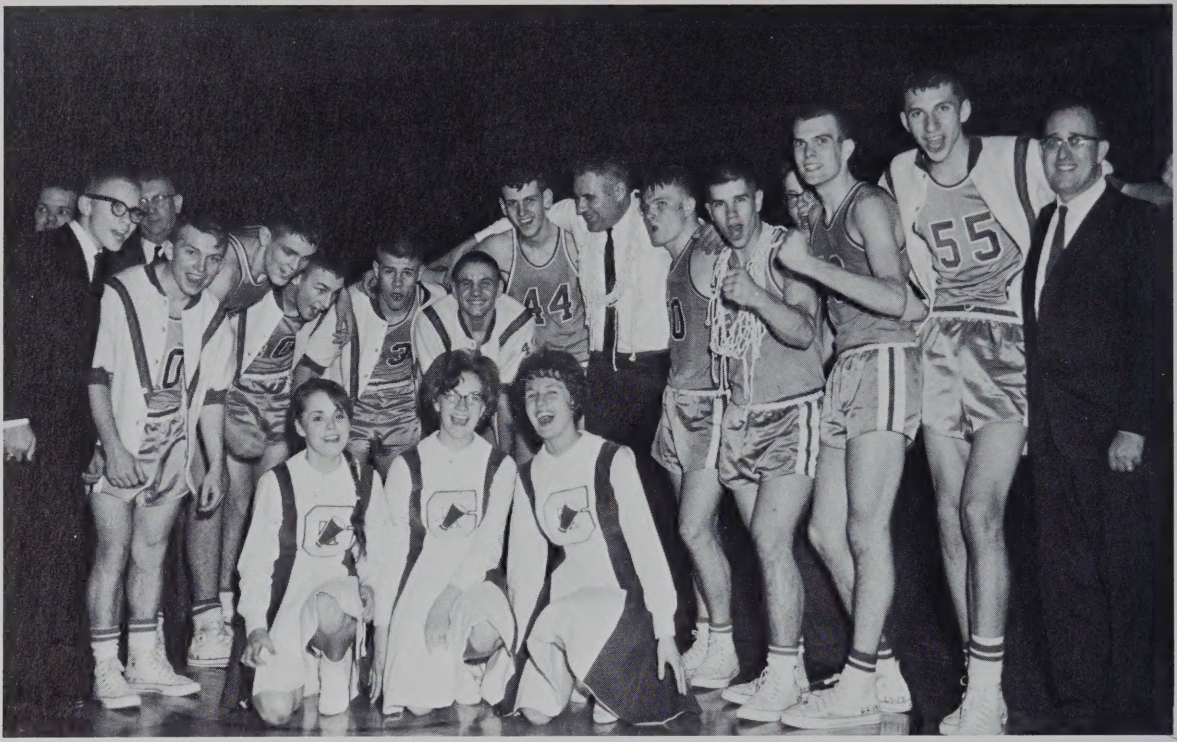
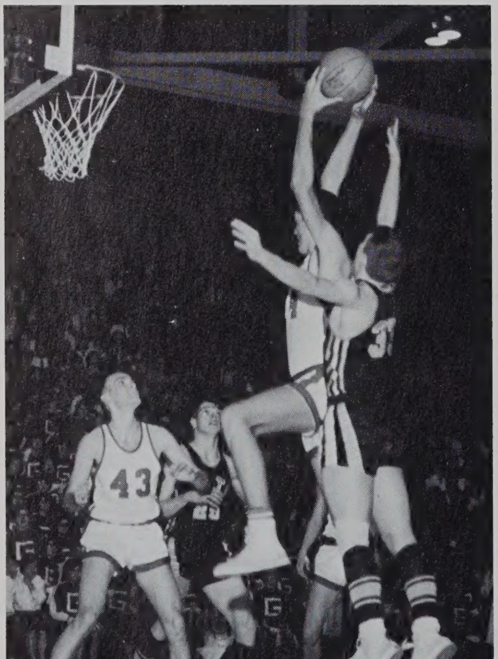
Enjoying the "Herm Binkley" Band are Susie Byanski and John Harmon.

Following the banquet, the lake was a place of fun for Petie Rowe, Johneen Ellis, Cheryl Yingling, and Stephanie Smith.



Tall, talented, and triumphant the 1964 Regional Champions were the area heroes. Following the thrilling Ashley encounter cheerleaders Jo Ellen Moses, Dawn Fleet, and Mick Wade beam as Coach Pearson, Athletic Director Bateman, manager Bill Creager and team members Tony Foar, Chuck Bavis, Buzz Steward, Rick Lewis, Steve Smith, Ken Mitchell, Coach Smith, George Hathaway, Larry Warstler, Manager Harold Werkheiser, Jim White, Jim Heitz, and Principal Don Fench celebrate the championship.



Tall Chuck Bavis demonstrates his rebounding as Jim White is in position.

Regional Title

A much-improved Garrett squad entered the Sectional at K'ville and brought home the IHSAA trophy. Eastside, Waterloo, 'Busco, and Auburn furnished tough tourney competition.

Tourney fever was high as the squad prepared for the Regional contest where Central and Ashley were to furnish the opposition. Determination stopped Fort Wayne in the afternoon, and the Railroaders fought a tough Ashley squad to an overtime victory 62-59 to take the title home for the first time in 24 years.

The city welcomed home the champs and prepared them to go back the next week when they clashed with the Elkhart squad who outlasted them.

The four sturdy and experienced seniors on the squad teamed up the two tall boys, Heitz and Bavis, to provide the winning combination. Sports writers from all over the state had their eyes on the tall squad from Garrett as they took to the floor and played championship basketball.

Blue Squad members were M. Thomas, T. Foar, E. Placencia, B. Carpentar, J. Harmon; ROW 2--E. Kelham, G. Hathaway, L. Warstler, R. Bergdall, A. Hopkins, G. Porter, D. Brown, Coach Capin; ROW 3--Coach Ewing, T. Vanderbosch, J. Grawcock, D. Miller, J. White and M. Steward.

School record holder, George Hathaway prepares to put the shot.

Shot putter George Hathaway traveled to the state track meet to represent the GHS squad; Auburn, Angola, and East Side were victims of the Railroaders; and Warstler and Miller threatened school records to highlight the '64 track season.

Practice and more practice was the word as Capin and Ewing coached and demonstrated skills which make skillful track contestants.

Makes Sports Headlines

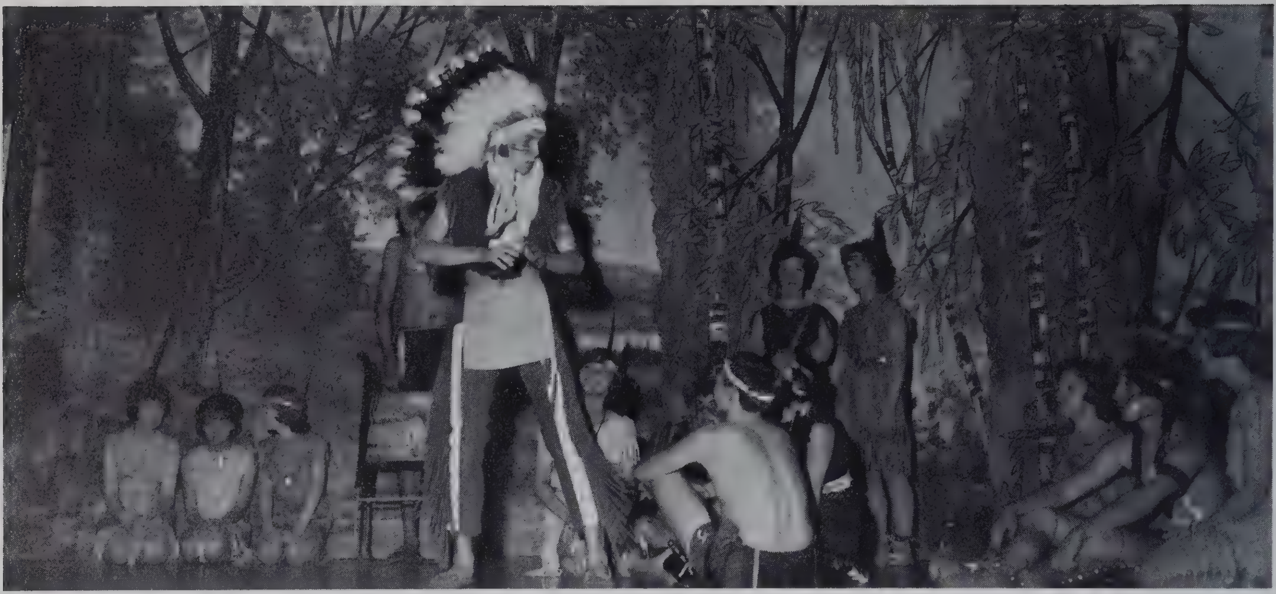
Maroon Squad included R. Dillon, Engle, Hamm, Cutler, L. Dillon; ROW 2--Maurer, Lung, Likes, D. Noel; Denes, Shafer, Smith; ROW 3--Coach Ewing, Thorne, Clark, LaTurner, Bavis, Armstrong, Moody, Platner, and Opdycke.

Moats, Tarlton, Brinkerhoff, and Mulligan lettered in golf for the '64 season as the squad played a crowded schedule. Home links for the squad are the Garrett Country Club's 18 holes.

Taking to the links were golfers Williams, Brinkenhoff, Mulligan, Worden, and Rupp; ROW 2--Coach Bateman, Tarlton, Gilliland, Moats, and Yoder.



A colorful group of Indians were entertained by solo dancers Dave Miller and Buzz Steward in the prize-winning Sophomore Class skit. The costuming, music, and staging impressed the panel of judges.

Spring Activity Competes with

More writing than dancing occurred at the Aeolian Hop after the annual was distributed.

Council Capers provided everything from art to Indians as classes and school organizations competed for the top prizes. Cindy Strobel and Sandy Gnagy served as chairman for the event which was won by the Sophomore Class. The Seventh Grade and the Senior Class took second and third.

The 1964 maroon and gold Aeolians were distributed at the Aeolian Record Hop in April. The 104-page annual was a sell-out as 625 copies were quickly distributed to eager subscribers.

Installations and initiations occupied the time of many students during the hectic spring months.

Spring initiates of the National Honor Society included Susan Kespohl, Jo Ellen Moses, Marvene Gergdall, Sandy Gnagy, Susand Jay, Tom Stebing, Jim White, Dave Miller, and John Moats.

Ummm Good! Mike Thomas and Ruth Creager fill their plates at the Picnic.

Cokes, ice, and water provided refreshment and moisture to the Junior-Senior Picnic. Johneen Ellis, Pat Bauman, and Larry Cattell were close to the action.

Studying, Tests

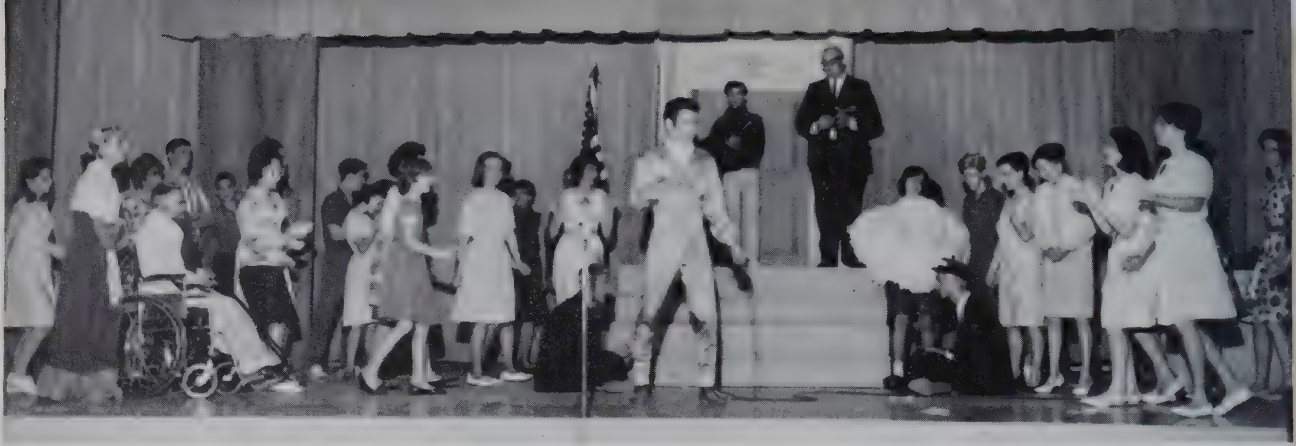
Honors for the underclassmen were distributed at a special convocation at the Big Gym. School leaders, including the new publications editors Susan Jay and Patsy Eberhard, were introduced.

Two members of the '64 graduating class stood out as they completed their education as they were also mothers. Both honor roll students, Mrs. Marlene Wilcox and Mrs. Vi Snook were awarded diplomas.

Mrs. Wilcox was made an honorary member of the National Honor Society at the Underclass Awards Program.

George Hathaway, chosen the outstanding athlete of his class, receives congratulations from Mr. Paul Bateman and Jim White after the Class Night Program.

Smiling Mrs. Vi Snook marches out after receiving her diploma and yellow rose.



Conrad Birdie, Mike Miller, sings "You Gotta Be Sincere" in front of the Sweet Apple Court House as teenagers and townspeople dance.

Birdie Thrills Capacity Crowds

For its first all-school play Garrett High presented the musical comedy "Bye Bye Birdie." Open four nights to the public, the production proved to be very successful as each night was a sellout.

The sixty-member cast acted under the direction of Miss Darlene Parrish. Many hours were spent preparing for the nineteen scene changes under the head of Mr. Arthur Garrigus, producer.

Laughter rang out as Keith Bunn, Kim's father, expressed his feeling of kids and Conrad. Helping to complete the MacAfee family were Ruth Crager, the mother, and Dave Isenbarger, the son.

The townspeople from young to older people and even convalescents swooned over Conrad.

Mama Judy Hyde admonished her son in one of their humorous encounters.

Adding color and broadcasting the news of Kim getting pinned to Hugo, portrayed by Jo-Ellen Moses and Tom Stebing, were the Teens in the telephone hour.

Shriners Jeff Brinkerhoff, Barry McNamara, Ron Matthews, Dick Pickard, and Tim Barry were dazzled by Spanish Rose, Johneen Ellis.

for the Future ...

with a need for more classroom space an addition to the building was begun the spring of 1963 and completed this year.

As the school building has grown, the students have grown in wisdom, stature, and social life. Athletics have helped them to grow in sportsmanship and maturity. Their social life has been strengthened by responsibilities in organizations, class assignments, and extra-curricular activities.

Through these experiences, GHS students are BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE.

Laying brick, pouring cement, and following blue prints were the many jobs performed by construction workers while building the chorus room.

The walls completed, the outside of the south entrance to the addition and joined the new building to the old.

Being prepared for students to walk through them were the unfinished halls.

New

In an effort to make our good school better, many changes were put into effect during the 1963-64 year.

Registration of high school students was completed before the opening day of school, we went back on a six period day with an activity period, and much new furniture was added to the school.

Paint brightened the drab halls, and many of the classrooms were repainted.

Work on the new addition seemed very slow as we wanted to move in. Running over to the Ober Building to eat, meeting classes on the stage, and doing without electricity made us more aware of how nice it would be to move into the addition.

Overcrowded classes and study halls were relieved as the addition was completed. Room 11 became a real library instead of a study hall.

The redecoration, the new addition, and an enthusiastic student body and faculty made the year successful.

Mr. French assumed the duties of principal in August. He also served as a Student Council sponsor and served on many committees of teachers and students in an effort to make a better school.

Visits to colleges to talk to GHS graduates were made by the counselors.

Principal Assumes Duties

Academic activity--the primary reason for having a school--took top priority at GHS. Teachers were constantly striving to improve the curriculum and their teaching methods.

Conferences were attended by several teachers, clubs were formed to develop interest and ability, and academic contests were entered to encourage further development in subject areas.

English, the basis of American education, trains the students of GHS to speak correctly, to write coherently, to think intelligently, and to read appreciatively. Grammar, speech, literature, journalism, and composition were the subjects offered.

With the rapid advances in education, technology, and business--it becomes imperative that students have a firm foundation of English skills.

Students Learn Job

New equipment was very evident in the industrial arts department as the old drawing desks gave way to a very modern desk with ample storage space for the many plates required.

Some new equipment was also purchased for the shop.

The new equipment provided the students with a wide variety of tools which allowed them to learn skills that were essential to obtain jobs.

And Physical Skills

Physical fitness was stressed in the gym and health classes as students took skill tests and learned the fundamentals of many games.

Health, safety, and driver training classes taught us how to preserve the bodies which we developed in physical education.

Junior high, freshmen, and juniors studied health and safety.

Behind-the-wheel and classroom training were involved in drivers education. Many students completed drivers training as a summer school course.

Twirlers and flagbearers for the sparkling Railroader band included Kathy Shreve, Jeanne Helbert, Norma Cutler, Michaeleen Gillispie, Lynn Freeman, Judy Gael, Jerilyn Kock, Claudia Miller, Mary Ann Myers, and Tommie Kaeck.

Woodwind musicians were Barb Lemper, Dianne Platner, Sharon Weller, Cindy Rowe, Cindy Carper, Roger Kolbe, Steve Hazeltine, Becky Baker, and Leslie Rhetts.

To Expand

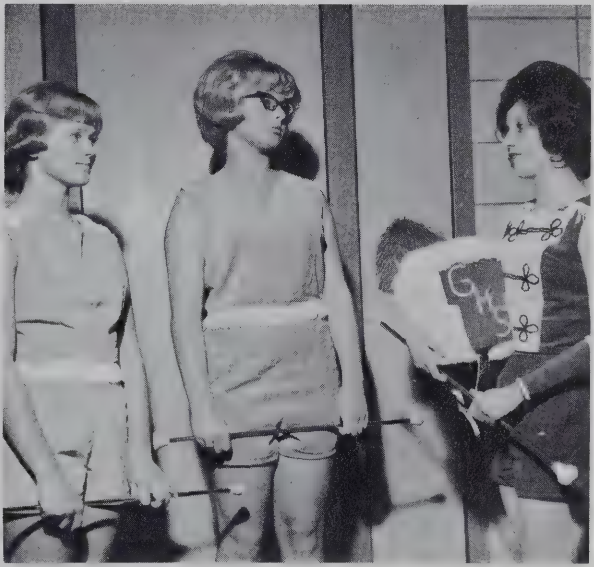
With a bright and snappy style the band marched onto the field for their first performance. The new uniforms and director Mr. Larry May added a great deal to the appearance of the group.

The size of the band increased and members worked hard--night practices were frequent--as they prepared for the football shows.

The band room in the addition with its practice rooms, storage area, and built-in risers also helped.



Feature twirlers Linda Ervin and Mari Lynn Neukom discuss the next routine with majorette Pennie Murray.

Saxophonists for the band were Becky Schurr, Ken Yingling, Rodney Andrews, Bill Baidinger, Carolyn Shaffer, and Alice Kelham.

A new-type team appeared at the first pep session. The feminine squad provided many laughs as they warmed up.

School opened in near-perfect weather, and we all squeezed into a crowded building and wished the new addition were completed.

New teachers, new classes, and new classmates crowded the first few days of school.

Spirit was high as the football team swept past opponents, and we began to warm up as unseasonable summer weather moved in.

The fair, grade cards, and the annual magazine drive served as competition for studying.

Clever pep sessions planned by the Pep Squad will long be remembered.

Laugh-Getting Pillow Talk

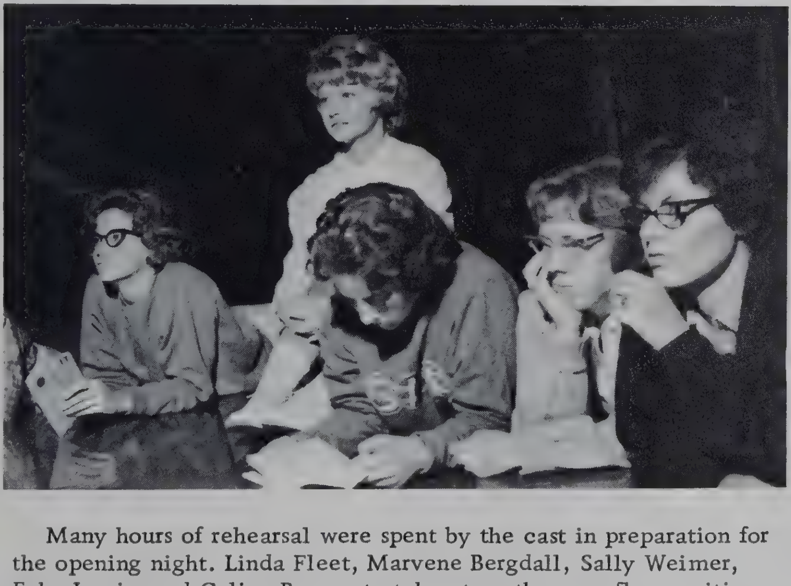
The setting for the play was unusual as two apartments were on the stage for the action.

In addition to the two apartments, action also took place in two night clubs, on the street, and in the telephone building. Also adding to the success of the production were the make up and lighting.

Rosie McGrath entertained Linda Fleet, Hudson Freeze, Carolyn Shaffer, and Dave Quinn in the night club scene. Art Shoener was the waiter.



Many hours of rehearsal were spent by the cast in preparation for the opening night. Linda Fleet, Marvene Bergdall, Sally Weimer, Echo Lewis, and Coline Brown stretch out on the gym floor waiting their cues.

Headlines tell the story of a gragic experience for many GHA students.

Fifth period classes were interrupted Friday, Nov. 22, and we learned that the President had been shot. Silence and grief filled the school as we listened to the news reporters tell the story we didn't want to hear.

Homecoming

Four senior girls were chosen by the senior class to be their representatives in the Homecoming Queen Contest, sponsored by the Pep Squad. From these four girls the basketball team members chose the first Garrett High School Homecoming Queen.

Underclassmen chose one girl from their class to represent them in the Queen's Court.

Each girl was attired in a floor length formal and carried a white muff adorned with red roses and fernery. An escort chosen by the representative accompanied her to the center of the gym floor while the band played "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" and the Pep Squad made a red heart with red and white colored flash lights. As the girls were escorted to the center of the floor, Terry Harter, master of ceremonies, gave some highlights of each girl's school activities.

Then came the final moment, Carol Rugman was announced as the 1964 Homecoming Queen. Co-captains Jim White and George Hathaway presented the queen with her crown and bouquet of long stemmed roses.

The queen and her court sat on the beautifully decorated stage with white pedestals and red roses and a big golden moon in the background during the Homecoming Game.

A Reality

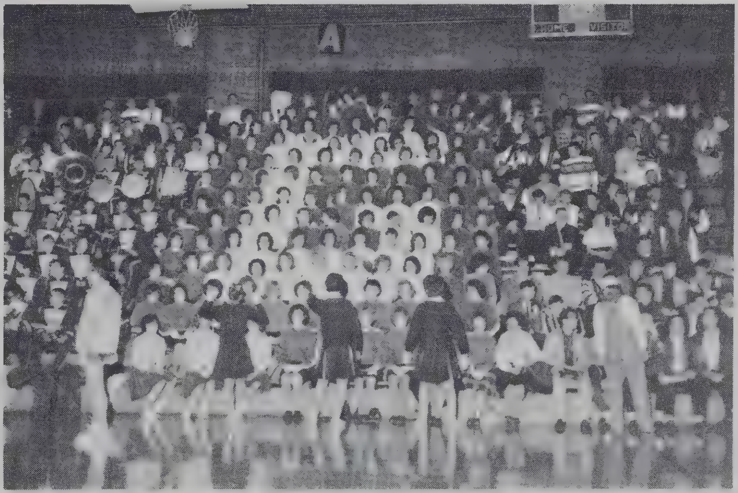
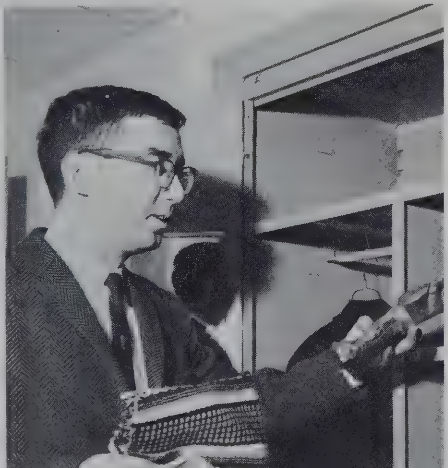
In memory of the late Mr. Lowell Johnson, Student Council President Danny Baker and Secretary Cindy Strobel, presented Mrs. Johnson a memorial plaque. In turn Mrs. Johnson turned it over to the school to be displayed in the hall.

Further explaining his Russian travels, Mr. Leon Johnson talked with Hud Freeze and Tom Wheeler after the convocation.

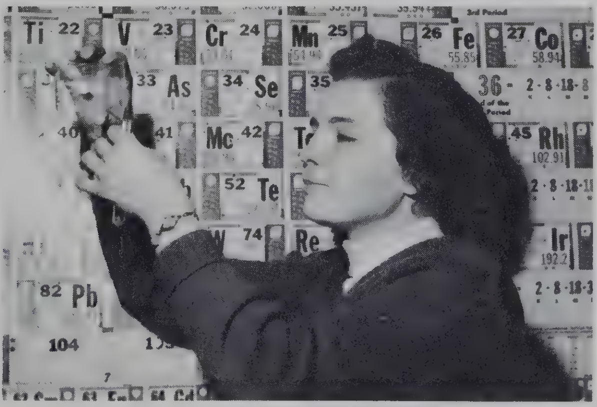
Many changes were made in the school system and confusion resulted from this. Classrooms were shifted due to the new addition and to make one hall of the school strictly junior high.



The band, girls' and boys' pep squad all seated on one side of the gym gave added spirit to the Railroaders.



Mr. Dominquez moves some Spanish articles into his new classroom.



Post-graduate, Joyce Sigler, returned to GHS to pick up courses needed for nurses training.

Second semester two new faces were added to the faculty. They were Mr. John Meyer, art teacher, and Mr. Ed Mahnesmith, junior high teacher.

Decisions on the new addition and what the new purchases of the year were going to be were among the discussions of the school board.

Major and minor jobs were accomplished by the office secretaries. These included selling tickets to stapling papers.

Aiding the school were student librarians and office workers. Librarians checked books in and out for students. They helped find information when one was in need of help.

Office workers, typed, ran errands, and took care of attendance to aid in the office.

Student librarians consisted of Gladys Ramey, Jeanne Detrick, Linda Gaskill, Kay McKee, Bev Beber, and Carol Lung.

Taking attendance and doing odd jobs in the office are students Cindy Hovarter, Barb Lemper, Cheryl Yingling, Judy Knott, and Carol Gaff.

School Operation

Marjorie Saxer, Audrie Hollis, Marjorie Carper, Anne Trainer, Ruth Lewis, Belva Tooman, Kate Kolbe, Yvonne Hunter, Mary Morgan, Martha Reed, and Helen Opdycke prepared and served many meals during the school year.

Making menus, ordering food, and doing other duties that need to be done in the cafeteria is headed by Helen Miller.

Cafeteria workers under the direction of Helen Miller put in many hours of hard work to prepare proper diets for many students. The ladies prepared and served the food and then cleaned up after students finished eating. Center pieces added extra cheer to the lunch line.

The custodian department was headed by the late Lowell Johnson, who passed away in September after serving at GHS for several years. His loss was great, but the jobs of the custodians went on.

Class rooms were redecorated and new furniture was moved in. Their work went on not only during school hours but many hours before, after-school, and during school vacations.

Keeping the school warm is a job custodian, Zeb Starner works to maintain.

Nine Seniors Spark Gridmen

Good reviews in the area newspapers, big crowds at all of the game, and a second place in the tough NEIAC conference were all reaped by the 1963 Garrett Railroaders.

The aggressive and undefeated squad had only 44 points scored against them all year against its 177, and 20 of those came in the final game when rival Auburn repeated history and tied us to knock out hope for the tie for conference championship with New Haven.

A good defense and a passing and running offense clicked for the squad. Larry Warstler lead the conference scoring race after the Elmhurst game and went ahead to win it.

A community victory celebration honoring the team included a record hop and a dinner. Community members at-

Reserves had a rather successful season winning four and losing three contests. Victories were posted over Auburn 13-12, Angola 20-19, Woodlan 25-6, and Columbia City 21-19.

Kendallville 6-0, New Haven 35-0, and Auburn 13-12 scored wins over the squad.

Mr. George Pearson and Mr. Ed Mahnesmith coached the reserve team. This team will probably provide a number of regulars for the varsity next year.

Impressive Railroaders Take

Co-captains Jim White and George Hathaway meet the Auburn co-captains Terry Habig and Gary Cochard to open the Auburn-Garrett battle.

School spirit and impressive playing highlighted the 1963-64 basketball season for the Railroaders. After a slow start, the varsity finally shook the defeat column and started a win streak that covered ten games.

Wins over Auburn, Fremont, and highly rated Columbia City pushed the squad to the top of the area ratings in the Fort Wayne NEWS SENTINEL.

Attendance rose and the following for the team was almost as great for the road games as it was at home. Hometown fans and awed visitors filled the Big Gym to capacity for several home contests.

Another trophy was added to the case as Angola and Ligonier fell to the rolling Railroaders in the Holiday Tourney.

Juniors Jim Heitz and sophomore Chuck Bavis contributed enough height to the team to allow it to tower over much of the opposition.

Following the ten-game streak, Eastside and Decatur were able to defeat the squad but by slim margins in both cases.

Seniors Lead Tall Team

Coach Ward Smith gives the squad strategy to use in defeating the Fremont Eagles.

Reserve squad members coached by Mr. Smith included Tony Foar, Rod Dillon, John Maurer, Bob Lung, and Jim Vogel. ROW 2: Rick Lewis, Craig Gilliland, Dave Miller, Ed Myers, and Steve Smith.

Experience, good size, and a strong desire to win brought the Handcars a 14-game winning streak in regular season play.

The team traveled to Marion and defeated Lafayette Jeff in a reserve team tournament. Marion managed a one-point victory in the championship.

Columbia City's reserve squad stopped the Handcars, but they bounced back to win their next game without a falter.

To Top of Area Ratings

The freshmen played in two tourneys during their season--one at Angola and one on the home floor. In the Angola event, they won the first game but lost to Kendallville in the final. Albion took the frosh out of their own tourney and Kendallville was again the champion.

The frosh had a well-balanced squad in scoring and playing.

Leading cheers for the frosh squad were Tina Wysong, Margo Januseski, and Rhonda Ballentine.

Girls' Athletic Association with a new sponsor, Miss Fredina Crowe, worked for better sportsmanship and more skilled athletes. A "round robin" tournament in volleyball started the season.

For the first time at GHS bowling was enjoyed by GAA members. Girls learned how to bowl and to keep score.

Basketball saw the playing season to an end. A "round robin" tournament was held in basketball too.

A banquet was given to award certificates to outstanding players and teams in each sport.

Better Pep Squad Backs Team

This year junior high students as well as high school boys and girls made up the Pep Squad.

A victory line greeted the Railroaders before each game during football season. Cheering squad members made the line as players entered the field.

For the Angola-Garrett game a coffin and "dummy" was made to represent a dead Angola Hornet. A pep session provided a funeral for the dead player.

New yells were learned for football and basketball.

Due to increase in size the Pep Squad was moved to the south side of the gym during basketball season.

For the Auburn-Garrett basketball game a medley of yells and songs was learned for half time entertainment.

All through the year pep sessions were held.

Leading the Handcars to victory were reserve cheerleaders, Nancy Capin, Cindy Lewis, and Jane Ervin.

Dawn Fleet, Mick Wade, and Jo Ellen Moses, varsity cheerleaders, spirited Pep Squad yelling.

Council Undertakes Many

Student Council was headed by Cindy Lewis, treasurer; Sandy Gnagy, vice-president; Dan Baker, president; and Cindy Strobel, secretary.

Junior representatives Bob Koehl and Terry Harter keep students informed by changing information on the Council bulletin board.

Student Council under the direction of President Dan Baker and sponsors, Miss LeNore Lewis and Mr. Don French, planned many things to improve the school.

The annual magazine drive was held early in the fall. The money received went for convocations and an activities sign, which now stands on the school campus.

A John Fitzgerald Kennedy scholarship was set up to be given to a deserving senior to be used at the college of his choice. This was done shortly after the death of President John F. Kennedy.

Getting ideas for Christmas decorations were senior representatives Gerry Porter, Jackie Weller, and Carol Rugman.

School Projects

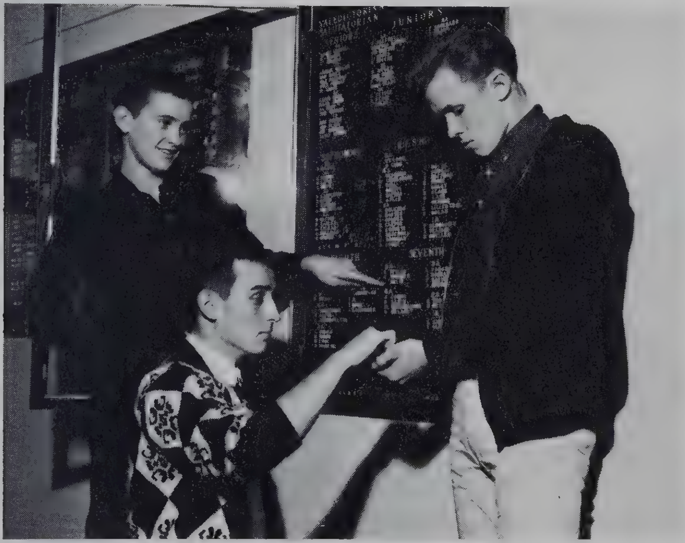
Fresh fruit was gathered and taken to elderly people in the community. The fruit was contributed by each student bringing a piece.

A Thanksgiving Program was sponsored by the Student Council at the big gym for all students and faculty members.

Decorating for the Christmas season was a project taken up by the council. Each grade took a different section of the school and decorated it.

Ninth grade council members Mark Hamm, Arthur Cobbs, Paula Dembickie, and Rhonda Ballentine, look over the new building.



Changing the honor roll are sophomore representatives Gary Armstrong, Steve Mulligan, and Tom Stebing.

Changing the honor roll board, the activities sign, and planning for Council Capers were a few of the tasks the council members carried on for the school.

Record hops, magazine drive, and Council Capers were sources for money to be used for projects that the Student Council performed during the school year.

Blue Triangle sponsored by Miss Sarah Eldridge and Mrs. Elsa Buckner was active during the year.

A record hop was held as a money-making project. Votes were sold for five cents apiece, and students voted for whom they wanted as Mr. GHS.

The crowning may become an annual event.

Blue Triangle officers were treasurer Diane Caywood, secretary Alice Kelham, vice-president Karen Myers, and president Nancy Capin.

Y-Clubs Help School, Community

At the Blue Triangle record hop George Hathaway was crowned Mr. GHS by Alice Kelham.

Packing collected food for needy families in the community are Diane McPheeters and Roxanne Isenbarger.

In charge of the Jr. Hi-Y were Craig Gilliland, Rodney Andrews, Rick Lewis, Lawrence Dillon, and Bill Baidinger.

Junior Hi-Y is a Christian organization of freshman and sophomore boys. Through the year they carry on their meetings with a religious aspect.

The big event of the year was the semi-formal with the Blue Triangle.

Getting information and ideas for the semi-formal are Rod Dillon and Mark Hamm.

As Members Complete Projects

To receive admission to one of the meetings members had to bring a can of food. This food was boxed and sent to needy families in the community for Christmas.

Service Projects were one of the goals that the Blue Triangle set for themselves during the year. The one most enjoyed was making Christmas favors for the aged persons in the Convalescent Home and the hospital.

Making Christmas favors for the aged are Kay McKee and Kathie Campbell.

Larry Stalter examines the school's press camera as he learns how to operate it as a club project.

Sponsored by Mr. Jay Newell, the newly-organized Business Club soon became members of the FBLA and started functioning.

The officers and sponsor went to Ball State Teachers College for a special meeting and heard many noted speakers from the business education world.

Field trips and speakers from business and business training schools provided programs for the club during the school year.

The organization attempts to inform business students of career and training opportunities in the field of business.

Charter Members Selected

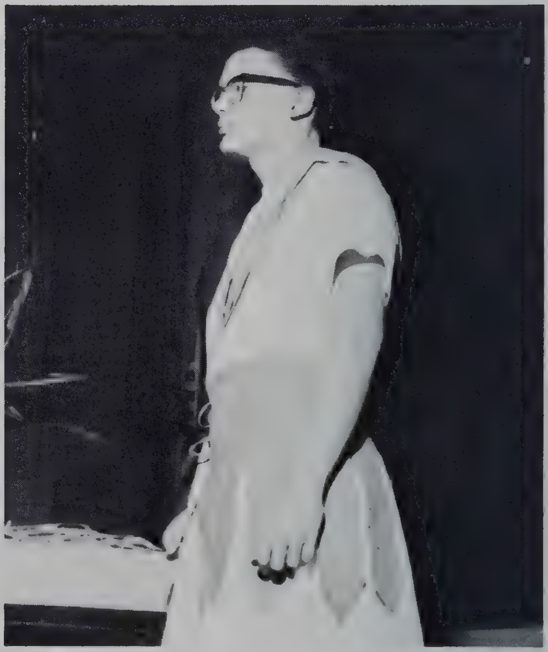
Leading the Latin Club through the year were officers Cindy Strobel, vice-president; Doug Opdycke, treasurer; Joe Binz, president; and Dawn Fleet, secretary.

GHS members prepared the Constitution for the State JCL. A Roman Banquet, record hops, and regular monthly meetings kept members busy.



Doug Opdycke portrayed the Roman God Mars at the Latin Club initiation.

Charter Senior members of the Honor Society consist of Max Freeman, Rosie McGrath, Jackie Weller, Margaret Crowe, Dan Baker, and Mike Caywood.

Presenting Honor students with their roses was Miss LeNore Lewis, chosen by the Chapter to help in the initiation ceremony.

The J. W. Garrett Chapter of the National Honor Society received its charter this year.

GHS students to get into the Society must excel in scholarship, character, leadership and service.

For Honor Society

There were 18 active junior and senior members and 5 sophomore provisional members chosen for membership by a faculty committee to be initiated in January. Superintendent Charles Puff was made an honorary member.

The Garrett Chapter of Phi Iota Xi is a community sponsor of the Honor Society.

Proudly displaying the National Honor Society Charter are officers Al Rapp, president; Larry Cattell, vice-president; Carol Rugman, secretary; and Terry Harter, treasurer.

Bette Thompson gets in the mood for presenting a reading by shaking her hands and reviewing the lines.

Another club moving into the circle of GHS organizations was the Speech Club which was sponsored by Miss Darlene Parrish, Mr. Richard Smith, and Mr. Arthur Garrigus.

Members presented part of the American Education Week program as their first activity.

Plays, debate, and speech contests were all a part of club activity.

Plans for production of the musical comedy "Bye, Bye Birdie" were handled in part by the Speech Club. Committees for much of the production work were formed of club members.

The all-school production was a new experience for many students.

As the seniors of 1964 graduate we carry with us many memories of our high school years; the most important was the senior year. Early in the year each looked his best as he posed for his senior picture. The first class project was the presentation of the play "Pillow Talk." Then, all anxiously awaited the completion of the new addition. The seniors were the first to move their books into the new lockers.

The future of the high school lies in the hands of our up-coming generation, the Junior High. The foundation of a successful high school begins in the learning of the lower grades.

The Junior High earns privileges and add to school spirit. Sport abilities are displayed, Spanish classes flourish, and convocations become prominent in school life. Leaders in the making are the pushing, running, yelling, and anxious Junior High students who add a chapter in the history of Garrett High School.

Future Varsity Railroaders

Johnny Hess practices the techniques taught in his seventh grade art class.
